Michael,

I haven't done any workshops. I did do a Health Fair at a Site in Louisiana. I held it in a Community that feels it is impacted by the Site (Devil's Swamp Lake). It was in 2010, and at the time we were thinking of doing more of that sort of thing. It was pretty expensive to put together, and I did it with some help from our contractor CH2M Hill. It was very successful and we had intended to do more of these, but budgets started getting cut and the plan went by the wayside. I also did a presentation on organizing a Health Fair at the 2011 Community Involvement Conference. I have also had an information table at two Health &/or Environmental Fairs in Flower Mound where I live. I was hoping to do one this April but the time got away from me, and it is too late to sign up.. That only costs the time and the material can be had from different Divisions within the EPA and FEMA.

We have had ATSDR do a few workshops on Health at another Louisiana Site (Mossville) in the past. Those are to only things I aware of in my time here.

We were planning some workshops at South Cavalcade, but the Community decided they didn't want them.

Tony,

Is that you from CenSARA days? I'm working at LDEQ now. Moved back home in late 2010. Anyway, could you let me know which of the workshops are free? Those are the only ones we can buy now. :>)

How would I go about scheduling one for LDEQ?

Thanks! Hope you are well.
